DISTINGUISHED LECTURER:

Martha Nailah Williams

Martha Nailah Williams, a native of Florida, is founder and director of KNOW ME / No Me, LLC, an institute focused on health, education and youth empowerment.

A long time advocate of civic involvement, the American Muslim 360 radio host is passionate about involving youth in our community. She is formally trained in personal health care and brings a compassionate caring attentiveness to all her professional responsibilities.

She has performed administrative management in several industries including commercial transportation, food production, and skilled nursing care. She has also assisted with CWSC strategic planning.

Martha is program manager for CWSC's scholarship, internship and leadership development council initiatives. She is a community organizer and certified trainer in community development and direct action strategies in education and social awareness.

Martha is attending school for studies in psychology and conducts independent study on the impact of communication and religion on world civilization with a focus on the human center " the soul " and its needs. ▼
